thereby liveth, is to be no counterfeit, but the true and perfect image of life indeed. The better part of valour is Discretion; in the which better part I have saved my life. Zounds, I am afraid of this gunpowder Percy, though he be dead: how if he should counterfeit too, and rise? by my faith I am afraid he would prove the better counterfeit: therefore I'll make him sure; yea and I'll sweare I slew him. Why may not he rise as well as I? nothing confutes me but eyes, and no body sees me: therefore sirra, with a new wound in your thigh, come you along with me.

He takes up Hotspur on his backe. Enter Prince and John of Lancaster.

Prin. Come, brother John, full bravely hast thou flest Thy mayden Sword.

John. But soft, who have we heere?
Did you not tell me this fat man was dead?

Prin. I did, I saw him dead,
Breathlesse, and bleeding on the ground. Art thou alive?
Or is it fantasie that playes upon our eye-sight?
I prethee speake, we will not trust our eyes
Without our cares, thou art not what thou seem'st.

Fals. No, that's certaine, I am not a double man: but if I be not lacke Falstaffe, then am I a Jacke: there is Percy, if your Father will doe me any honour, so: if not, let him slay the next Percy himselfe: I looke to be either Earle or Duke, I can assure you.

Prin. Why, Percy I slew my selfe, and saw thee dead.

Fals. Didst thou? Lord, Lord, how the world is given to lying! I graunt you, I was down, and out of breath, and so was he, but we rose both at an instant, and fought a long houre by Shrewsbury clocke, if I may be beleev'd, so: if not, let them that should reward Valour, beare the sinne upon their own heads. I'll take it upon my death, I gave him this wound in the thigh if the man were alive, and woud deny it, Zounds I will make him eate a peece of my Sword.

John. This is the strangest tale that ever I heard.

Prince. This is the strangest fellow, brother John.
Come, bring your luggage nobly on your backe,
